The Aerie

For many years the DeLand-Weldon yearbook has gone without a name. There has usually been a theme, or a motto, but not a name. The yearbook staff decided this year to remedy that problem. Of course, the name had to be associated with our mascot--the Eagle. One suggestion was "Eagle's Nest," but that sounded too plain. After several other ideas were discussed, Mr. DeJaynes suggested "The Aerie." Obviously some eyebrows were raised--that is, until he explained that an aerie is an eagle's nest. The word is pronounced air-ee. So, now the DeLand-Weldon yearbook is no longer a book without a name. It is where the eagle nests--The Aerie.

On 11 September 2002, students and faculty gathered at the flag pole for a short remembrance and moment of silence in memory of those who lost their lives 9/11/01.

In Memory of Those Who Lost Their Lives in the War in Iraq

*In every life,
there comes a time
to walk in shadows and in sunlight,
to hear silence and song,
to shed tears of sadness and of joy,
to forget what has been taken,
and remember
what has been given.*

Drama Club

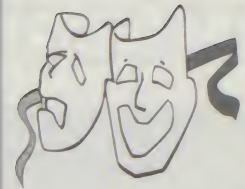

The DeLand-Weldon High School Drama Club dedicates itself to the study and presentation of fine drama.

On Saturday, 27 March 2003, the DeLand-Weldon High School Drama Club presented an adaptation of Mary Shelley's Frankenstein. Cast members included: Chuck Arnold as the monster; Chris Day as Victor Frankenstein; Alycia Arnold as Elizabeth; Frank Trussel as Henry; Kate Funderburk as Frau Frankenstein; Tonya Yokley as Ernst; Samantha Wallace as Sophie; Courtney Wilson as the gypsy girl. Mr. DeJaynes directed the production, assisted by Kira Bell, Brandon Rost, and Matt Mutty. Prompters were Samantha Oakley and Derek Lian.

It is the job of the Yearbook staff to be continually aware of events that are taking place in the school, whether it be academics or sports. Members of the staff must be proficient in writing, photography, and computers. They must also have an eye for page layout and composition.

The 2002-2003 school year was the first year that Mr. DeJaynes served as advisor. Thanks to the dedication of the staff members, especially Kira Bell, the yearbook expenses were met, and the yearbook was totally paid for by the time it went to press. Mr. DeJaynes would like to thank the entire staff for a great year!

Senior Wills

Being of Sound Mind and Body...

I, Kira Bell, will the incoming freshmen the ability to be their own person. Don't get caught up in the many little groups you'll encounter through your high school years. You are U! I will the freshman class the knowledge they need to succeed in the near future. You can do it! I will the sophomore class the right to say whatever they want. You are the "middle kids" in high school. Don't worry, you'll be on the top some day. I will the junior class the power it takes to continue to have all the faith and determination in your graduating class to be as close as you are now. That's awesome. I will the senior class a little bit of advice for when you meet the big world that's out there; if you don't succeed, try, try again. Don't ever give up. Just remember...if there's a will, there's a way! I love you guys and you are so awesome! I will all the teachers my gratitude. I thank all the teachers who were a part of my high school career. You taught me a lot and made me look at life in a totally different way. All of you are terrific!

I, Mat Deem, will the '04 seniors luck in winning another spirit stick. I will my sister the ability never to use her homework voice. I will Nikki B. the ability to never have clogged pores. I will Alycia the ability to win Magic one time by the rules and without help. I will Krista the ability to escape her mom's grounding for her junior year. And, finally, I will Matt Mutty the video game music, now and forever.

I, Courtney Wilson, will Krista my spot in the locker room for basketball, my "cheerfulness," my lust for the Pepsi guy, my dependable, leak-proof car, my ability to skip class without getting caught. If the shoe fits...! I will Nikki B. my driving ability, and I will Lindsey S. the ability to make it through the day without hating someone new.

I, William Ingersoll, will Keith the power to know how to fish. I will Beth the power not to be blonde; Tonya the power to be my wife forever; Sam, the power to think of Bill stories.

I, Luke Reeser, will Sam L. my great relationship with Coach Eller. I will Bill I. my fishing ability--you might need it in Minnesota. I will Chris B. Hubert--protect him from the underclassmen. I will Brandon R. the ability to remain standing on the basketball court. Of all the classes we've ever been in high school with, we are the best. To the class of 2002: We cleaned it up!

I, Sam Wallace, will Alycia my setting skills, a heart, the realization that the world does not revolve around her, the power to take God's place in the world, so she may achieve total perfection. I will Nick the ability to just say No!

I, Frank Trussel, will Tonya the ability to argue as well as I do.

I, Amelia Barr, will the following: to Sam Lawrence, the ability to get to the bathroom on time; to Beth Bensken, a ghetto booty; to Tonya Yokley, the ability not to mess up her words for one day exactly; to Mat Deem, the ability always to be a great song writer; to Matt Mutty, the desire to let Tonya make up for me being gone next year.

I, Mark Bennett, will...Nikki Bowman, my high fives; Krista Reynolds, my rubber band; Dougworth, my first stall; Johnson Flanagan, the right to light my beard on fire; Beth, the realization that Krista is mine and she isn't; Mr. Waddell and the Algebra II class of 2002-2003, the right to know there will always be thirty seconds left; Sam Lawrence, a new pair of underwear and my charm with the ladies; Jennyfred Deem, a lifetime supply of tardy passes; Lindsey Strawn, the realization that she is very attractive; Tonya Yokley, the ability to get my name right--it is not Mike or Bo!

I, Kate Funderburk, will...Luke and Chuck the ability to go one entire day without talking about fishing; Beth, my cheerfulness because she is always so gloomy; Ashley, some confidence and the realization that no one hates her; Courtney, the hot Pepsi guy; Samantha, to be "wooded" whenever desired; Krista, the ability to keep from ditching her friends for her boyfriend because we really hate it when she "disclodes" us; Chuck, some better ideas and a bag of munchies; Courtney, a bunch of pictures of her friends just sitting around together being friends; Kira, a new pair of pants and the ability to stop running into me in the hall; and finally, to all the classes we've ever been in school with, the ability to realize that we are the best class.

I, Beverly Baker, will the following: Jenny Deem, the ability to get through lunch detention without me; Amanda Barnes, the ability to get over herself; the Juniors, the ability to realize that we will always be better than them; Leslie and Allen, the best of luck with Amanda.

I, Matthew David Landstrom, will the entire Student Body the power to be responsible and mature enough to be independent. Depend on yourself and then NO ONE but you will do you wrong. Then hopefully, by the time you graduate, you will become a perfectly independent person to the outside world, as I have.

I, Amanda Baker, will the following to: my sister, Jenny Ford, the ability to succeed in everything she does; the Seniors the ability to succeed in whatever they choose to do with their lives; Heather, the ability to race cars and earn bunches of money; Cody the ability to find a girlfriend; Brandon the ability to find a girl he likes; Krista the ability to have x-ray vision; the students of DeLand-Weldon high school luck in everything they do; G.W. the ability to get by without a job so that he can hunt and fish all day; Fisher the ability to pay for things; Mrs. Schilawski, a student-free day.

I, Chuck Arnold, will to...Shorty, my urinal; Doug, my toilet; every class that was ever in school with us, the ability to realize that we are the best.

I, Nicole Allison, will the following to: Mr. Arenas "Drop"; Jennifer Deem, boxes of markers and a lifetime supply of tardy passes; Nikki Bowman, a pair of flip-flops for every outfit; G.W. Mank, ear plugs; Amanda Baker, an audience to listen to the stories; Amanda Barnes, a bottle of ketchup; Aleyna Carsel, the guy from Finish Line; Samantha Oakley, Steak 'n Shake coupons; Matt Mutty, ear plugs also.

I, Heather Whalen, will the following to: Krista, the ability to tan; Frank, the ability to admit he's wrong; Jennifer Deem, the ability to get through lunch detention without me and the ability to realize Bob the Builder is better than Sponge Bob; Mark, the ability to stop hitting me; Mr. C., the ability to let his future classes have nap time twice a week; Mr. DeJaynes, three million dollars; Sam-O, my truck and five cents; Niki, 500 pairs of snowmen pants; Jodi, a large heavy stick that she can beat Frank with, and my birds; Capt. A., the ability to miss me bunches; Lindz, a pineapple tree and a man..."A good one"; Cody, the ability to not miss his grandma; Richie, more teeth; Travis, the ability to cook because Beth just can't seem to ever get the right ingredients into the right dish; Siarah, one million dollars.

I, Allen Reynolds, will Tonya Yokley, Jim. May he live FOREVER!

*A few more steps
to the end...*

You can always expect a smile from Kira!

Walking on to tomorrow...

Farmer Chuck--an omen?

Jenny & Matt--another omen?

Good Luck

Sophomores!

Mr. & Mrs.
DeJaynes

Smile, C, it's almost over!

Dead Poets rule!

Nikki & Sara

Cody! Was all that in your locker?!

Okay, guys...chips on the table!

The steps are fading...

Heather...take wrestling!

What are they smiling about?
